

Prof. Dr. Anne Karow is Consultant Psychiatrist and head of the Adolescence Psychiatry Department, the Early Detection and Intervention Centre (FePS) and the Competence Centre for Integrated Care. The Adolescence Psychiatry Department is an interdisciplinary cooperation project of the Department for Child and Youth Psychiatry and the Department of Psychiatry and Psychotherapy at the University Hospital Hamburg-Eppendorf. Anne Karow is also member of the research group: “Early Detection, Psychoses and Integrated Care” and in the management team of the “Cross-sectional coordinated, severity stepped, evidence-based care model for mental illness” (www.recover-hamburg.de).